Life starts all over again when it gets crisp in the fall.

F. Scott Fitzgerald

Autumn has long been my favorite season. Long before I had read The Great Gatsby or attended a high school football game, I was captivated by piles of falling leaves in brilliant shades of red and yellow, by the buckeyes we collected in the nearby cemetery, by the crisp aroma of coal fires, the damp mustiness of the earth, the chill in the morning and evening air. Later, Fall meant the exciting trepidation of a new school year: new opportunities to succeed and fail; to learn, both in and out of class; to make friends (and perhaps an enemy or two); to see the world changing around me, even as I felt it changing within me.

Of course, this year is very different. Seven months of pandemic have blended my days into a steady stream of sameness, sapping the joy from so much of what I do. Take driving.

I mean, I love to drive - always have. When I was young, my friends and I spent hours just driving around Allegheny and Washington Counties -listening to music, talking about life, enjoying the scenery. Sure, we would complain we were bored, but as I grew up, I realized how much I enjoyed those days and nights of boredom. My commute now is an interesting one; some days, I cruise down 340; other days, I swing over to Rockfish Road and enjoy the hills and curves. I cut from Delphine across to North Bayard and slow down to moon over the British sports cars at Gassman Automotive; crossing into downtown, I check how high is the river. And I didn't even mention the mountains! It should be a great drive, but despite the fact I drive it almost every day, I have been completely oblivious to the seasonal beauty I was passing. It wasn't until last Saturday (October 24) we took a drive just to enjoy the colors, and even then, Ann had to convince me to go.

I don't mind telling you, I'm struggling.

But heck, everybody is struggling: worried about contracting a virus that can mess with your life or even end it - or worse yet, be transmitted to someone else who might die; worried about the future of jobs, businesses - a way of life - in a socially distant world; worried that the church will be another casualty of the Coronavirus.

Oh, and there's that presidential election cleaving our already divided nation.

In the midst of all this anxiety and uncertainty, I look back at Fitzgerald and find it interesting how he turned convention on its head by seeing new life not in the Spring, where one expects it, but in the Fall. In Gatsby, a tense, sultry summer day exemplifies the disappointing sameness of life, while Autumn, with its dynamic change, becomes the time of refreshment and excitement - each day marking something new and different, if only in a small way.

I really want to hang on to this, and I'm wondering if there are others like me. Beginning Thursday, November fifth, I will be hosting informal chats around town, at different times and at places where we can responsibly let our masks down, get to know each other, and maybe share both excitement and struggles. I pray this autumn might yet be refreshing for us all, and that the new shoots of life we sow might continue to grow and deepen over the coming days and seasons.

MUSIC NOTES

November begins with All Saints Day, when we remember those who have shed their mortal coil. Over the last year, we lost three choir members: Mary Frost, Ann Kline and Campbell Epes, Jr. These three beloved choristers formed a triumvirate of wit and humor, which was always perfectly timed to counteract the rigors of rehearsal. In the BC (before coronavirus) era, we would have honored their memory together. Until we are able to do so in person, we can at least remember all those we have lost in our hearts, prayers and music.

One memory we have of Campbell was his delight in hearing the very lowest, deepest pitch of the mighty Woodberry and Harris pipe organ in our Sanctuary. When Roger would finish a postlude in the key of C (playing the lowest note on the pedal board with his left foot), Campbell's smile spread across his face, from ear to ear. Linda and Warner Sandquist, whose families are woven into the fabric of FPC, are honoring Campbell (whose family is also woven into FPC's tapestry) with a plaque that will be affixed to low C of the pedal board. Thank you, Linda and Warner, for your genuine expression of the esteem we all hold for Cam and his family.

The hymns for All Saints Day are tried and true favorites: For All the Saints by Ralph Vaughan Williams, and I Sing a Song of the Saints of God, a reminder that all of us can be saints in our daily lives. For the anthem, we are blessed to, once again, hear Paul Jones sing Because He Lives.

We honor those who serve our country on 8 November, the Sunday before Veterans' Day. Trombone soloist David Kidd will be featured on both the hymn Eternal Father, Strong to Save and the anthem Faith of our Fathers. David received a Bachelor of Music from the University of Alabama and a Master of Music from the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston. He and Celia are both members of The Orchestra Now, based at Bard College in Red Hook, NY.

The final Sunday of the church year, Christ the King, brings us to the Sunday before Thanksgiving. We honor Christ's eternal reign with the uplifting hymn Crown Him with Many Crowns. We also celebrate our many blessings with one of Martin Luther's most enduring hymns, Now Thank We All Our God. Yes, this is a strange time, when we are aware that we really do not know what will happen in the future. We can, however, trust in God's infinite love and grace. The Holy Spirit gives us the ability to demonstrate this to one another.

We remain grateful to First Presbyterian Church for the opportunity to continue to share the spirit of the Lord through music. We miss you terribly and look forward to again worshiping together in our beloved Sanctuary. In the meantime, may the love of Christ be with you always.

Blessings,

Roger and Kimberlea Daggy

SESSION HIGHLIGHTS

Session held a Stated Meeting on Zoom on October 13, 2020.

- Rev. Pettit gave a presentation on Living with Covid: Our Mission & Ministry during the Pandemic. We looked at where we are now in the areas of Worship, Fellowship, Education, Outreach, Physical Plant and Governance. We considered our Constraints: Regulatory, Demographic, Motivational, Ethical, Physical and Political.

We are afraid to do something. We are afraid to do nothing.

Patrick's Rule # 1: It's Never about..... What it's ABOUT.

(A new command I give you: Love one another. As I have loved you, so you must love one another. By this everyone will know that you are my disciples if you love one another) John 13

Patrick's Rule #2: Process in our Friend.

Our Resources: Energy, Intelligence, Imagination, Love and Stewardship.

Patrick's Rule #15: Failure is NOT an option – It is a FACT. (The highest MLB lifetime batting average is .336....which means Ty Cobb hit safely less than 40% of the time.)

Patrick's Rule #16: Grace transforms failure into experimentation. ("I have not failed. I've just found 10,000 ways that won't work." Thomas A. Edison)

Patrick's Rule #10: Look for miracles....and plan to work.

Patrick's Rule #13: Church is not something we attend....it is something we are. ("Now you are the body of Christ and individually members of it." I Corinthians 12)

- Work will begin soon on our boiler replacement. The replacement furnace and humidifier for the office and library are on order (not in stock).
- A necrology for the past year will be part of the worship service on All Saints' Day.
- All Session meetings are opened and closed with prayer.

YES, WE DID MAKE A DIFFERENCE!

Our Refugee Family from Viet Nam

Thanksgiving is not just a day in November

Recently FPC was the recipient of notes, four substantial checks in loving memory of Tac Luong, and pictures. Who are these folks and why would they be sending us money?

I happened to be around in the '80s and I remember the Luong family. I decided to share their story. To be sure of my facts I trotted down to the church Library, perused the official history books and came up with the following, thanks to our historians at the time Marsha Howard and Judy Cook.

"During the early months of 1980, First Presbyterian decided to sponsor a refugee family from Viet Nam. The Service Commission provided the initial leadership in this endeavor. Our search for the family was rewarded when we found the Tac Say Luongs. Until the collapse of South Vietnam in 1975, Tac was a soldier. Then, for four years he worked quietly at home making sandals, with his wife, Lam ef Zenh. The Luongs have four daughters and two sons, ages 2 to 17. Since June 1979, they had been living in a refugee camp in Indonesia. They speak Cantonese and Vietnamese, a little French, and a little English. Our congregation looked forward eagerly to the Luong's arrival. Such necessities as housing, employment, furnishings and domestic needs, and human relations were foremost in our minds for many months."

“Finally, after months of anticipation and preparation, our Vietnamese family, the Luongs, arrived on July 8 (1980). Mr. & Mrs. Luong were accompanied by six of their children: Khenh, Kin, Na, Vinh, Khanh, and Hau. Grocery shopping, tutoring, and orientation developed into a regular routine, and various families in our church took special interest in the Luongs. Tac soon began work—as custodian of First Presbyterian. Having them in our midst has been a joyous experience for all.”

“One of the biggest pieces of news at First Presbyterian in November (1983) was the fact that our Vietnamese family, the Luongs, would be moving away from our community and relocating in California, near the San Jose area. Only Khenh remained in Virginia as she continued her studies at Eastern Mennonite College. We were sad to lose the Luong family who had become such a part of our church family, but we wished them Godspeed as they began their new life in the west.”

And then.....” July 16 (1984) saw a very special wedding in our church and the first to be held in our Social Hall since the fire as most of our brides have elected to hold their weddings in other churches. Khenh Toi Luong and Cuong Viet Truong were united in marriage by Rich Koster. Khenh, her family having already moved to California, looked to her ‘American Mothers’ to help her with her ‘American wedding’. The ‘American Mothers’ Betty Sandquist and Mildred Hammock took charge and planned the special wedding day. Those who helped contributed everything from the lovely wedding dress and flowers to the wedding cake and reception. The couple left shortly after the wedding and are now living in California, where the rest of their family resides.”

Those of us who knew the Luongs realized how grateful these special people were. They participated wholeheartedly in the life of our church. They attended worship regularly and filled a whole pew in our “old” sanctuary. We turn our clocks back November 1. A smile crosses my face as I recall the time the family showed up just as the congregation was singing the last hymn. The time had changed that Sunday as well.

They Luongs left our area 37 years ago! The children and GRANDchildren are still saying “thank you”! I’ve enclosed their correspondence elsewhere in this newsletter. Please take time to read it and see what a difference First Presbyterian Church made in the lives of generations of one refugee family. Let that be an inspiration to us all. ~Betsy Ruehl

ADDITIONAL LETTERS OF THANKS FROM THE LUONG FAMILY

Dearest Presbyterian Church,

My name is Phuong “Julie” Luong Kauffman. I am the middle daughter of Cac Luong. I would like to personally say Thank You for sponsoring my family close to 40 years ago from the Indonesia Refugee Camp where I was born. Your church gave my Grandparents the HOPE and LIGHT they prayed for while escaping Vietnam and our family will forever be grateful. Today, my 2 sisters and I are living the True American Dream, and this could not have been done without the great help from this very church. Thank You for making my Grandparents and Parents Dream come true by giving us the opportunity to LIVE a Safer, Healthier and Brighter Life in this Great Country of the United States of America. With deepest gratitude.

Dear First Presbyterian Church,

It’s been over 40 years since the day my grandfather, Tac Luong brought me inside your Church. He was so proud and happy to show it to me. I remember being so excited to explore around and enjoyed my first taste of coffee creamer. It was simply delicious to me! I was only three years old. It’s one of the few memories I will cherish with my grandfather in Virginia.

Your church gave our family hope and freedom. It gave us an endless opportunity to make our lives better, and we are extremely grateful for that. The church members who came together to provide our family shelter, clothing, food, etc. will always be remembered.

My grandmother and grandfather always spoke great things about your church. Thank you for choosing our family and the work you did to get us safely here from Vietnam. You gave us a chance to build a better future for ourselves, our children and the generations to follow.

We hope this donation will help the church. Thank you so much for the love your church and church members gave to all of us. Your church will always a special place in my heart. I look forward to the day I can bring my family back to Virginia. In the meantime, stay safe and best wishes to all of you!

Love, Sim Luong-Gevard, Cac Luong's oldest daughter. (San Jose, CA)

These letters, along with pictures, will be posted in the Educational Building.

LETTER FROM ONLINE VIEWERS

To the folks who are the church there at First Presbyterian in Waynesboro:

We want to thank you for your online ministry and the blessings we received from watching – no, not just “watching” – but being in worship with you on September 6.

We want to encourage you with our prayers for your continuing ministry and mission in these present times of challenge when innovation, perseverance and flexibility are so necessary. May our Lord Jesus and the Holy Spirit continue to invigorate you all and give you the strength and wisdom, passion and energy you each need to be the church. We thank you so very much for sharing word, music and table online in such a way that avoided being a “worship show”.

Together with you in serving Christ, Kathy and Steve MacLaclan, Houlton, ME

P.S. Sorry for the delay in writing. We’ve moved to northern Maine just last week and are getting settled.

P.P.S. Why did we tune in to First Presbyterian Church? Our friends Mark and Sandi Henderson are members and we’ve seen the church building but haven’t been in VA on a Sunday...yet!

A PRAYER OF THANKSGIVING

Creator God, be near to me. When I’m uncertain, offer me comfort. When I’m afraid, give me courage. I give you thanks for all of the good things in my life. I ask for help with the things that aren’t so good. I pray for patience and understanding as our traditional Thanksgiving gatherings may be different this year. I pray for my community in the mist of this pandemic, that everyone would stay safe and healthy. Be with our leaders and help them to make good decisions. Thank you for your love. Amen

"I have said these things to you, that in me you may have peace. In the world, you will have tribulation. But take heart I have overcome the world". John 16:33

Greetings from the Preschool,

During October, the Preschool has been a bustling epicenter of faith-based learning, colorful crafts and autumn-themed stories. We have been blessed to have members of the congregation (Thank you Joan Berry) and Waynesboro Public library volunteer to read stories on Tuesdays. On October 8 the children, their families and staff members from the Preschool spent a picturesque fall day picking pumpkins and exploring a corn maze at Troyer's Fruit and Produce Farm.

The theme for October in Ms. Diggs' two-year-old class is "Harvest Time". One of the group activities was making a friendly scarecrow. Making the scarecrow provided the children the opportunity to learn about the different bones in their bodies. "The Little Old Lady Who Is Not Afraid of Anything" by Linda Williams is the book the two-year-old class is reading. Lastly, there will be a class party to wrap up October.

The three-year-old class began the month talking about how the seasons and the weather are changing. As the weather becomes cooler, families may begin to heat their houses, so Ms. Lynda made sure to discuss "fire safety" with her class. Ms. Lynda devoted circle time introducing "letter people". Mr. Delicious Doughnut, Miss E Exercise, Mr. Funny Feet and Mr. Goopy Gum had a day devoted to them.

Ms. Aimee's class is learning a lot this October. They are learning the letters: A, F (Fire Safety), M, P. They are also practicing their sight words. Each Thursday is "show and tell", where each student is allowed to bring in something to talk about and share with the class. The four-year-old class will conclude October with a costume party on October 29.

Lastly, the Preschool would like to extend an invitation to the members of the congregation to come and welcome our new animal friends to the Preschool classrooms. Spike is a reptile, more specifically a bearded dragon, who has taken up residency in an enclosure in the library. He is very small and very cute. Ms. Aimee's and Ms. Lynda's classes are taking care of goldfish while Ms. Diggs' class is watching over white cloud minnows.

May God Bless You All,
Thomas V. Sheffey
